SHATTER! Video Game From The Rings And Beyond To be clear, I don't like to visit the internet for the sole purpose of finding out about a game that I haven't heard of because I've seen the cover art and/or description and have other plans. I'm a big fan of things that aren't on Steam or Origin. I still just can't do it though. Oh well. Anyway, to the game. SHATTER! is a 2D platformer. It appears to play like Super Meat Boy meets Angry Birds. The premise seems to be that you're a small being that can destroy a whole planet, but you can only do so one at a time. A puzzle game to be sure. As you proceed through the game and destroy planets, you'll learn new abilities. A lot of enemies. And powerups. And in-game items. I've only played the game for a little under an hour so I really can't give a lot of detail, but I am really excited about it! I think it's great that it's 2D and not a side scrolling platformer. I also like the idea of platformer without the free running sections. In fact, I think that that would make the experience really stale if it were to appear. You'll want to think outside the box for this one. If you're interested in checking it out, I recommend following the developer's twitter. I love seeing a game that I'm interested in before it's out, but I don't feel like there's a lot of information available. His twitter has been pretty great in providing small tidbits of information. Here's the trailer: If you're interested, here are the developer's details:

. A partial Γ is a graph Γ together with a set S of points of \mathbb{R}^n that is called the set of edges of Γ . Given a finite set S of points of \mathbb{R}^n , we define $V(\Gamma)$ to be the set of points $v \in \mathbb{R}^n$ that are not the image of some point in S . Let R be a commutative ring with unity. Let \bar{R} be the quotient field of R . Let R^\times be the set of non-zero elements of R . Let S be the set of non-zero ideals of R . In [AC], it is shown that the set $V(\Gamma)$ is finite if and only if Γ is a partial Γ . If that is the case, we define the dimension of Γ to be the maximum of $n+1$ such that there is a linear polynomial $p \in \bar{R}[x_1, \dots, x_n]$ such that for all $r \in R^\times$, $p(r) \neq 0$. The notion of dimension is inspired by Faltings' proof of the Mordell Conjecture [F]. It was introduced by Robson in order to give a more concrete version of the proof of the Uniformization Theorem. However it is not well defined since, in general, we cannot find such an algorithm for a given Γ and for a given field k . A finite set $\Gamma \subset \mathbb{R}^n$ is a lattice of rank d if Γ is a finitely generated \bar{R} -submodule of \mathbb{R}^n and it contains a basis of \mathbb{R}^n as a \bar{R} -module. A lattice is free if it is finitely generated and free as a \bar{R} -module. A lattice of rank d is a free lattice if it contains a basis as an \bar{R} -module. Let R be a commutative ring with unity. Let \bar{R} be the quotient field of R . Let S be the set
